

Angie Bismeyer

We were novices together in 2014, and there are two things, that we, her crew mates, will always remember about Angie, her smile and her love for us and others on our crew. She always had time to listen to, and hug, others who needed it. She had a passion for people. She often joined the Deas crew at Sharkey's for dinner after our Tuesday practice. She paddled on several composite crews after the regular season was over. Her husband, Ron, was a familiar face at our regattas, cheering us on. Paddling meant a lot to her. Her family said she was always enthusiastic about life and was always open and willing to try new adventures. She had a kind and generous heart. She and her husband helped to get our boat ready for the water this year.

Her passions were for her family, her church, her friends, her work, at Evergreen Baptist Manor, her artwork, baking, sewing, gardening, flower arranging, jewellery making, photography, and many other crafts.

She came out this year on May 14 to our first regatta of the year at False Creek to cheer us on even though she had had a recurrence of her breast cancer in her liver now. She was so positive that day but a week later she was in Palliative Care at Surrey Memorial Hospital. She died a week after that on Monday, May 30, 2016.

Well done, good and faithful servant! Angie is now in heaven with her Lord.
